REDMOND'S

Significant Utterances at the Unveiling of the '98 Memorial at New Ross.

Nothing But Freedom Will Change Irish Hatred of English Rule.

Points Out Consequences That Follow Dissension and Laxity of Discipline.

NATIONAL SPIRIT CAN'T BE BROKEN

Speaking at the unveiling of the '98 memorial at New Ross John Redmond said Ireland was admittedly the disgrace and weakness of the empire, but if England were able to win Ireland's good will by a frank concession of freedom, that would be of more value to her than the good will of all the colonies. They hated English rule, and nothing but freedom would change that hatred. One hundred and nine years ago, on the sacred soil on which they stood, there was fought a great battle for human freedom. Disarmed, undisciplined, undrilled, untrained, the people of that country faced overwhelming odds of the trained and drilled soldiers of England, and the victory of the people and their subsequent defeat within a few hours would contain for all time for the Irish people lessons full of significance and omen. The victory of the people proved that unity and discipline and enthusiasm could do anything against any odds. And the subsequent defeat overcame the Irish forces in Ross showed the certain consequences which all through the history, not only of Ireland but of the world, had followed from dissension, from apathy and from the laxity of the discipline. Ireland could gain nothing if she were split up into various sections; parties and cliques could never gain anything unless the Nationalists of the country were united. The moral was, Mr. Redmond said, that there was nothing they could not gain by unity and discipline, and that dissension and lack of discipline would end in the disaster which overcame their arms on the night of the battle of Ross.

"After all," he went on, "the great lesson to be learned from the battle of Ross, and from this demonstration, is not so much for us as for our alien rulers. What is the meaning of this demonstration? Here we are, the descendants of the men who died upon this spot 109 years ago. Here we are, after all the years that have passed, after all the efforts that have been made to crush our country; here we are at the end of it all, not only honoring the memory of the men of '98, but publicly pledging our devotion to the same ideals for which they died, namely the freedom of our country. The moral of the demonstration is perfectly plain for England. The moral is that nothing can destroy the national sentiment of the people of Ireland—that the national spirit of Ireland can not be broken. It has grown strong in persecution, it has never been weakened by concession, and today I say that this great fact is apparent, that over and above every effort for the amelioration of our lot, over and above every question of removing this grievance or that grievance, the great master passion of the Irish heart today is the sentiment of nationality and the demand for national freedom."

We many differ among ourselves as to the precise ideal, and even our ideal may, with the lapse of years, to some extent, be modified—we may differ as to methods. Young blood will always be in favor of the more extreme and more violent methods. We may differ from time to time as to our policy, but England should take note of the fact that so far as the object is concerned—that is so far as the freedom of Ireland is concerned—we are all united, and we would soon face one hundred years more of persecution than abandon or abate one single jot of the national demand."

That was the moral which he commanded to English statesmen from that meeting. One hundred and nine years of persecution and depopulation, of bloodshed, of the scaffold and the prison, of languishing prosperity, ruined hopes, and yet at the end of it all there they were, young men and old, absolutely united in declaring their adherence to the ideals of a free nation. The most precious national possession was the sentiment of nationality, which was the very soul and spirit of the nation, and in endeavoring and attempting to suppress that spirit in Ireland, England was not only engaged in a hopeless, but a most foolish task. English statesmen admitted at that moment that Ireland was the disgrace and the weakness of England's empire. On all great occasions, whether in her sorrow or in her joy, Ireland stood apart from England and the empire. Today Ireland was a weakness to the empire, and every man of every nation in the world knew that that was so. But if England were able to win the good will of Ireland by a frank concession of freedom to the people it would be more valuable to her than the good will of all the colonies in the empire put together. Till she did that this fight would go on. They told England frankly, as he had done in his place in the House of Commons, that the choice of the weapons would be a mere question of expediency with them, because they believed they were entitled in this movement to use every weapon which was open to a God-fearing race such as the Irish. They sent a message to England from that meeting to tell her that they, Wexfordmen, hated her rule today just as bitterly as their forefathers did when they shed their blood on that spot. "We tell her," he continued amid loud cheers, "we are as much rebels to her rule today as our forefathers were in '98. We tell her also that she can change that hatred by a grant of liberty and nothing else. So long as she with holds from us the rights of freedom it will remain, as I have said, a question of expediency how and by what means we will strike at that power that holds our country in bondage."

BISHOP FEEHAN.

An Ideal Man For Head of the Fall River Diocese.

In the appointment of Rev. Daniel F. Feehan, P. R., of Fitchburg, to the Bishopric of the Fall River diocese to succeed the late Bishop William Stang, the Catholics of Fitchburg lose a devoted counsellor, the city of Fitchburg yields one of her foremost citizens, and the diocese of Fall River gains an ideal man for this high office in the Catholic church. Rev. Daniel F. Feehan, P. R., was born in Athol, Mass., in 1855. He was graduated from St. Mary's College, Montreal, in June, 1876, and was ordained to the priesthood December 20, 1879, by Bishop McElroy. Father Feehan's first assignment was assistant to the pastor of St. Bernard's church, Fitchburg. In October, 1886, Father Feehan was appointed pastor of the church in West Boylston. In the fall of 1888 he was recalled from West Boylston and appointed temporary pastor of St. Bernard's. At the end of the year he became permanent rector, the youngest permanent rector at that time in the diocese of Springfield. Bishop Beaven bestowed upon him an additional honor by appointing him to the Bishop's council. When Father Feehan first became connected with St. Bernard's church at Fitchburg Father P. J. Garrigan, now Bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D., was rector of the parish. Father Feehan was made permanent rector when Father Garrigan was elevated to the Bishop's seat. About a year ago Father Feehan celebrated his silver jubilee, after twenty-five years' active duty in the priesthood.

KNIGHTS' MEETING.

Uniform Rank Companies Visited by Clergy Thurs-day Night.

A most enjoyable social meeting of the two Louisville uniform companies of the Catholic Knights of America was held Thursday night at the headquarters of Company C at St. Martin's Hall. The purpose of the meeting was, of course, to interest young men in this splendid semi-military organization and further recruit the membership, and the results were very gratifying, quite a number having signified their intention of joining the ranks. Invitations had been sent to a number of clergymen and several were present as guests of the evening. Each lad wore a commendation for the Catholic Knights of America and encouraged the young men to affiliate with the Uniform Rank, which was a most excellent social as well as beneficial organization, and where they would receive a good military training.

Gen. Michael Reichert responded for the Knights, and told the many young men present of the benefits they would derive from membership. His hope was that the two local companies would grow until they were strong enough to form a battalion. Several others made short addresses that were well received, and so satisfied were the officers and members that they have determined to hold similar meetings hereafter at frequent intervals. During the evening all present were treated to a luncheon, followed by light refreshments and cigars. The Knights have reason to feel proud of their first joint social session.

HELP BUILDING FUND.

At the annual children's festival and picnic given by St. John's church of Carrollton the handsome sum of $525 was netted. This goes toward the building fund of the handsome new $50,000 stone church now nearing completion, and which will stand as a monument to the zeal and energy of the former pastor, Rev. I. N. Abmann.

POSTPONED.

The trip that was to have been made to Lexington tomorrow by Supreme Director James T. Shelly, President Ben Sand and members of the Young Men's Institute, for the purpose of paying a visit to Barry Council, has been abandoned for the present. The visit will be made later when the weather is more seasonable. Barry Council is one of the oldest and most important in the Kentucky jurisdiction.

TOMORROW

The Sixth National Convention of Catholic Societies Will Convene.

A Million and a Half Will Be Represented by Delegates.

Kentucky One of the Original States That Formed Present Body.

HAS ENJOYED WONDERFUL GROWTH

Tomorrow the sixth national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies in the formation of which Kentucky took a conspicuous part, will convene in Indianapolis and continue in session until Wednesday evening. The Federation has had a phenomenal growth and the delegates in attendance at this convention will represent a million and a half of Catholics. The Jefferson County Federation will be represented by President Newton G. Rogers and several others. This convention will undoubtedly be the largest and most representative Catholic gathering ever held in this country, as nearly all the national, State and local Catholic bodies will be represented by delegates. These will be from the Catholic Order of Foresters, with 130,000 members; the Ancient Order of Hibernians, with 200,000 members; the German Central Venerin, with 100,000 members; the Knights of St. John, the Catholic Knights of America, the Young Men's Institute, the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, the Women's Catholic Union, the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union, the Catholic Benevolent Legion, the Bohemian and Slavonic national bodies and many State federations, county federations, Catholic parishes and institutions. Ten thousand Catholic Indians, as well as the Porto Rico and Hawaii federations, will be represented.

The convention will open with Pontifical high mass at Sts. Peter and Paul Cathedral, where Archbishop Blenk, of New Orleans, will preach the sermon. Public mass meetings will be held at Tomlinson Hall on July 14 and 17, at which addresses on timely subjects will be delivered by Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee; Bishop McFaul, of Trenton; Right Rev. J. Schreiber, of Grand Rapids; J. Roche, LL. D. Hon. Edward Feeney, of Brooklyn, will preside at the meeting.

The Federation was founded six years ago. It has the approval of Pope Pius X. and eighty Bishops. Its aim is to serve church and country, and to unite with good men of all creeds to combat divorce, intemperance and dishonesty. President Roosevelt has also approved of the objects of the federation.

Full reports of the important proceedings and the part taken by the Kentucky delegates will appear in these columns next week.

DID WISE ACT.

Mackin Council a Member of State Council Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Though there was only a fair attendance at the meeting Tuesday night Mackin Council acted wisely in affiliating with the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Society. This proposition had been under consideration by many of the members for some time past, and after the reading of a letter from Secretary Thomas A. Bohan there was a unanimous vote for the resolution to affiliate.

Announcement was made that terms were being arranged for an excursion to Owensboro when the Grand Council meets and that the Joint Committee expects to see a big delegation from Mackin. The committee that arranged for the sun-set excursion reported that it was both a social and financial success, and presented the council with a nice sum as the proceeds. George Bartisch, who is suffering from an injury to his foot, was reported still confined to his home.

Every undertaking under the administration of President Sand has been very successful this year, and the members are inclined to take a rest during the heated season, but it is their intent to make a determined effort to put the council out of debt and burn the remaining mortgage before the beginning of the next year.

ST. ANTHONY'S PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the people of St. Anthony's congregation and their friends will take place Monday at Phoenix Hill Park. For some time past committees have been making every possible preparation and they look for the most successful outing ever given. Arrangements have been made with the Street Railway Company to carry the children from the church to the park without any charge of cars and all will leave there at 9 o'clock. Dinner and supper will be served by the ladies of the congregation and a fine time is expected. The arrangements provide a most interesting and varied form of amusement, including many attractions of a novel and unique character. The people of St. Anthony's parish are always ready to help others, and they therefore look for all their friends at Phoenix Hill on Monday.

MOVING UPWARD.

Division 2, A. O. H., Welcomes County President and Visitors.

OPEN TO YOUTH OF NORTHWEST

While all the divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Louisville are moving upward, none are displaying more energy than Division 2, in which there is a spirited but friendly rivalry between the men of the East End and St. William's parish to see which can muster the largest membership. This division is also earnestly at work for the success of the field day and summer festival, and when the final returns are in it will be found that its members were not behind in their duty. William Meehan announced a number of entries for the tug of war and hundred yards dash, and said they would be represented in all the events.

There was a good attendance Friday night when President Ford called the meeting to order. Several communications were read and acted upon and the Visiting Committee said it was enjoying a nice vacation. Will Meehan reported the proceedings of the committee meetings held to arrange for the field day and the duties assigned Division 2. Under the good of the order President Ford introduced as a welcome visitor County President John A. Murphy, who delivered a short but telling address, in which he commended the officers and members for what they were doing. He also noted with pleasure the fact that every member of this division was wearing the beautiful emblem of the order, a distinction which but few anywhere could boast. He urged his hearers to take all interest possible in the work of the A. O. H., that Louisville and Ken-Cook might be able to make the showing they desire at the next national and State conventions. For all the visitors there was a most cordial greeting.

RECENT DEATHS.

George and Mary Robinson, 201 Lytle street, have the sympathy of many friends in the loss of their infant son, whose sudden death rendered their home desolate. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon.

Martha E., the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Roth, 1541 Dumessil street, died Sunday afternoon after a short illness. The body was taken to the home of the child's grandfather, Peter Roth, near New Albany, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

Margaret Mary Gannon, the thirteen-months-old daughter of Thomas Gannon, the Illinois Central engineer, died a victim to the recent hot spell and died Saturday at the family residence, 1542 West Oak street. Her funeral took place Monday afternoon.

Last Sunday night death laid claim to the infant son of John Mullany, 1212 Twelfth street. The child was well until the hot spell, which super-induced cholera infantum. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

Miss Mary Dolan, the sixteen-year-old daughter of James Dolan, died at an early hour Wednesday morning at the family residence, 123 Nineteenth street, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis. She was a bright and promising girl until stricken with the dread disease that caused her death. Besides her parents she leaves several brothers and sisters. Her funeral took place yesterday morning from St. Patrick's church.

Louis B. Carroll, the youngest son of Mrs. Margaret Carroll and a popular fireman on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, succumbed to typhoid fever last Saturday, after an illness of long duration. He was twenty-one years old and the news of his death caused feelings of profound grief among his wide circle of friends, numbers of whom called at the home to express sympathy for the bereaved mother. The funeral was held Monday morning from St. William's church, Rev. Denis Murphy officiating at the mass of requiem and delivering a feeling funeral discourse.

State Jewels Stolen.

A Dublin dispatch says a portion of the State regalia, valued at $250,000, has been stolen from Dublin Castle. The safe in which the regalia was kept was forced. The jewels stolen were those used in the ceremony of investiture in the Order of St. Patrick, the processional cross, studded with diamonds, and the jeweled sword which is worn in procession at the investiture of the knights. Lord Castletown, Knight of St. Patrick, was to have been chief of the State ceremony on the visit of King Edward to Dublin, but it is officially announced that the ceremony will be postponed. Sensational developments are expected.

poor." Her friends in the convent have kept the secret faithfully.

For months a building has been in process of construction on the ruins of an old cabin from which the occupants were evicted a year ago. It is almost beneath the shadow of the convent. Local gossip has been busy as to the object for which the new building is intended. It is now announced that it is to be a school where girls will be taught the rudiments of housework to fit them for domestic service when they are obliged to leave their own homes for foreign lands. While the building ostensibly is being put up by the nuns, Mary Anderson Navarro is the donor, and she has also endowed it so that it may be free from financial embarrassments.

OWENSBORO.

Great Preparation For Entertainment of the Grand Council.

Sarto Council is busily preparing for the entertainment of the Grand Council next month. The Grand Council committee has the work well in hand and will have the programmes ready for distribution within a week. Arrangements for the banquet, which will be served at the Rudd House, have been about completed, and it will be served in the manner that has won the Rudd its excellent reputation. Hon. William M. Fogarty, of Indianapolis, Ind., Past Supreme President of the Young Men's Institute, will honor the Grand Council with his presence and will deliver an address at the banquet. Other prominent Y. M. I.'s will respond to the toast.

The members of Sarto will endeavor to make the stay of the visitors pleasant and will hold themselves at the services of the visitors at all times. It is probable that weekly meetings will be held after this week until after the meeting. Two members were received at the last meeting and quite a number of applications are to be voted upon at the next meeting, when several new applications will be received. There is great activity in Y. M. I. circles. The baseball team has won the last three games and now presents a very strong line up. The Grand Council committee will appreciate the favor if the visitors will inform them in advance of the time and road over which they expect to reach Owensboro.

THEIR FINAL VOWS.

A reception and religious profession was held Tuesday at the Sacred Heart Academy on the Cherokee drive, when eleven young ladies took their final vows and renounced the world to become members of the Ursuline Sisterhood. The ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Father Wilett, of Preston Park Seminary, as assisted by Rev. Father Gregory, of St. Meinrad's Abbey, and Rev. Father McShane, chaplain of the Sacred Heart Convent. Besides the Louisville relatives of the young ladies many visitors from Indiana and other points were present.

LEND YOUR HELP.

The people of Louisville and Kentucky should rally to the support of the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Society. It is stated that there are today 2,000 sufferers from this dread disease in Louisville alone. This is a startling condition of affairs, and every citizen should lend the society all the aid possible in stamping out this terrible life destroyer. The great need of the society just now is means with which to prosecute its philanthropic work, and it is to be earnestly hoped that there will be a generous response to the appeal just issued by those who are blessed with the means to do so. A more worthy charity does not exist.

WILL NOT FUSE.

During the past week conferences between committees representing the Republican City and County Committee and the City Club, so prominent in the fusion movement of two years ago, have been held for the purpose of determining the course they would pursue in the coming election. After much deliberation the conclusion was reached by the Republicans that as an election for State officers was involved the present was no time for fusion, the leaders believing it to be their duty to nominate and place under the log cabin a straight party ticket. They may, however, places thereon the names of some Democrats who have left their party.

From present indications there will be but two tickets this fall for voters to select from. The time is fast approaching when the nominations will be made and until then it would be idle to make any prediction as to which will win. It is most certain, however, that Democrats and Republicans will put forward their strongest men and that the contest once started will be pushed with vigor.

WITHOUT INTEREST.

The visit of King Edward to Ireland this week is without incident other than the quiet reception arranged by Dublin Castle authorities and other Government officials. The people generally were unconcerned though at all times and in all places strictly orderly and respectful. Both King and Queen wore the national color of Ireland, but this occasioned little enthusiasm. King Edward congratulated the country upon the progress and prosperity indicated by the Dublin Exposition. He said his stay must be briefer than he could have wished, but he intended to make the most of it, the prosperity of the country and the happiness and contentment of the people being objects very near to the hearts of both himself and the Queen.

FIGHTING STRENGTH.

When the announcement was made that the Navy Department had decided to send the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific a well known navy officer was asked what, in his opinion, would be the outcome of this oversea transfer of sixteen battleships. The officer must be quoted anonymously, as under the department's recent stringent order the wearers of navy blue must not talk for publication. "The chances are," he said, "that Japan will seize the Philippines and declare war before the fleet has been one week at sea. The serious blunder was made when the battleships that were stationed out there were withdrawn. Instead of withdrawing them, the force should have been gradually but unobtrusively augmented."

That may be an extreme view of the danger of an early clash. But it is betraying no confidence to say that the vast majority of those in the naval service have long been of the opinion that sooner or later the Japanese situation would reach a crisis. If that crisis is so soon to come it will be a bit reassuring to Americans to know they are ahead in fighting strength and that a comparison of the two fleets shows that this country commands a larger and better equipped navy than that of Japan. These are the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet which it is said that the Government will send around the Horn into Pacific waters. The vessels are all of modern construction—some in fact are such recent additions to the fleet that their crews have not yet had an opportunity to fire them. But the fleet as a whole is the most formidable one that is now sheltered under any one flag in any waters of the world.

PROMOTED TO SERGEANT.

The Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners of New Albany has promoted Patrolman James McLaughlin to the rank of Sergeant and he went on duty in that capacity last Wednesday night. It is gratifying to know that the promotion was not made through any political pull, but was for merit alone. For the next few weeks Sergeant McLaughlin will perform detective duty.

Rev. Father Thomas White in his address made special mention of her splendid record.

WORTH PLAYING FOR.

Tickets are being disposed of rapidly for the afternoon and evening euchre to be given next Tuesday at the Southern Club on Thursday, July 18, at the lawn and residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meehan, 1824 Sixth street. Many handsome prizes will be offered to the fortunate winners—prizes that are well worth striving for. The ladies and gentlemen of the club deserve all the support they can get, as the entire proceeds will be devoted to charity.

CHANGE OF PASTOR.

The Rev. Father William A. Joachim, who has been in charge of St. Bernard's church at Rockport, Perry county, Ind., for the past ten years, has been transferred to Starlight, Clark county, and will assume his duties at once. He is a zealous priest and shepherd, and it was with feelings of regret that the people of Rockport parted with him.

Large crowds attended the celebration of the Colorado Springs council on July 4. The parade in the morning was an imposing one, and the address by Hon. M. C. Harrington, of Denver, on "Catholic Patriotism in America," won for him new laurels as an orator and scholar.

FONTAINE FERRY FEATURES.

Fontaine Ferry's many amusement features are all of the sort that afford the visitor opportunity to cool off. No more popular spot about the grounds is to be found than Hopkins' Pavilion, the cool and spacious summer theater where many of the best vaudeville acts in the country are being brought this summer. The programme arranged for next week is one that seems to promise much for local vaudevillians, as there are a number of unsupervised turns on the bill. Park patrons will be pleased with the engagement for another week of Prof. Erlinger and Miss Beatrice Fisher, who will again be heard as soloists in the daily free band concerts. Another grand fireworks display will be given tonight as a special free attraction.

TRYING OPEN AIR TREATMENT.

Miss Virgie Andriott, daughter of Peter Andriott, the well known carriage builder, who has become helpless through long illness, has been removed to Ohio Falls, where she will live in a tent and be given open air treatment until bad weather sets in. Miss Andriott, before her illness was greatly admired in the West End, and her host of friends hope the change may prove beneficial and release her from her long suffering.

IMPROVING.

The many friends of Patrolman James Welsh, of the Fourth district, will be greatly pleased to learn that his condition is reported much improved. For several months he has been confined to his home at Twenty-third and Bank streets, suffering from a complication of diseases, and for a time considerable anxiety was felt for his recovery.

WILL CHANGEBoth Night of Meeting and Meeting Hall Next Month.

Beginning next month Division 4, A. O. H., will meet at Odd Fellows' Hall, Sixth and Walnut streets, on the second and fourth Mondays of each month instead of the second and fourth Wednesdays as heretofore. It was intended to change this month, but as the fourth Monday will be the picnic date it was decided to hold a special meeting previous to the picnic to give the members an opportunity of making ticket returns, and accordingly a meeting will be held at Bertrand Hall, Sixth street, near St. Catherine, on Friday, July 19, and President McGinn urges all members to attend, as different sub-committees for the picnic will be appointed.

Chairman Tom Dolan, of the games committee, was on hand at Division 4's meeting Wednesday to solicit entries for the different events, and after stating that the downtown members were training faithfully, was taken off his feet when John Hennessy remarked that it was useless, as the men from Limerick intend to sweep the platter clean. Returns for picnic tickets are coming in nicely and every member of the division is taking an active interest, which is the spirit that wins. Division 4 now has about twelve candidates awaiting initiation, two applications being received Wednesday—those of Sam Joyce and Thomas Cavanaugh.

DELEGATESTo Kentucky Grand Council
Chosen by Trinity
Tuesday.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., met Tuesday evening and elected delegates to the Kentucky Grand Council, which will be held at Owensboro next month. John J. Sullivan, Sr., Ed. Wulf, Dr. G. P. Beutel, Jr., Vic Eckert, Andy Kiefer and James Kelly were nominated. Messrs. Sullivan, Wulf and Kelly were chosen as the delegates, and Beutel, Eckert and Kiefer as alternates. The election of John Sullivan was a well deserved one, as he has been a pioneer worker in Y. M. I. ranks, while Ed. Wulf, Trinity's popular Treasurer, can always be depended upon to lead the ticket in an election.

As President Jos. Conkling was detained at another meeting until late, Thos. J. Garvey was chosen to act as President, and with the exception of getting a little twisted by calling the members "fellow braves" and "brother warriors" did very well in the chair. On account of inability to attend the meetings regularly, Ed. Bosler resigned as First Vice President, much to the regret of the members, who have great faith in Mr. Bosler as a hustler and faithful worker.

NOTED CLERICAL SCHOLARS THERE.

Milwaukee had as its guests this week the most distinguished body of Catholic clergymen who ever gathered in that city. Among the number were Archbishops Farley, Quigley, Glennon and Blenk, this being their first visit. Others were the recently created Bishop Walsh, of Boston; Very Rev. Thomas Shahan, Rev. Edward Pace and Father Yorke. They were there to attend the sessions of the Catholic Educational Association, of which Monsignor O'Connell, of the Catholic University, is the President. The meeting opened Tuesday in Marquette University and did not adjourn until yesterday.

SISTERS' RETREAT.

Great numbers of the Daughters of St. Dominic arrived in Kentucky from Eastern and Southern points and last Sunday entered upon a nine days' retreat at Sienna Heights, Springfield. The retreat is being conducted by Rev. Father Clement M. Thunete, a noted missionary priest of the Dominican order. Kentucky Sisters will not begin their retreat until August 1.

Next Tuesday a convention of the Superiors and teachers of the Lorettine Sisterhood, whose headquarters are in Marion county, will be held at Kansas City. The Lorettines are recognized as one of the greatest Catholic teaching orders in this country.

MRS. KOLLROSS RUN OVER.

Just before going to press news of a sad accident to Mrs. Constantine Kollross, wife of the well known music teacher and choir leader, reached this office. It was to the effect that she was run over by a street car at Twenty-third and Market and sustained injuries that may cause her death. She was dragged some distance, and when taken from beneath the car it was found that her body was awfully bruised and that one of her feet had been cut off.
